

Dear FCC,

Please enact the reasonable US Fish and Wildlife Service Guidelines that will make communication towers safer for migrating birds. One of the changes that the federal aviation administration has enacted is the use of white strobe lights instead of solid-state lights, which can significantly reduce the avian mortality rate.

Thank you,

Susan and Donald LaSala